Amit Ronen

Amit Ronen currently serves as senior policy advisor for energy and natural resource issues to U.S. Senator Maria Cantwell (D-WA). In this capacity, Amit advises the Senator, collaborates with Washington state constituents and other stakeholders, and drafts legislation in areas of clean energy, the environment, and natural resource policy.

Prior to this position, Amit held a variety of jobs at the U.S. Department of Energy's Office of Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy. He also worked for Secretary Rodney E. Slater at the U.S. Department of Transportation, the White House Council on Environmental Quality, and the Volpe National Transportation Systems Center.

Amit received his undergraduate degree from Pomona College in Claremont, CA, and a Masters in Public Affairs from the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University. Both degrees involved a concentration in Science, Technology and Environmental Policy.
